THE UNLUCKY CONSPIRACY.

Discussion of Kilbourn's Imprisonment in the House.

CHIEF JUSTICE CARTTER'S POSITION

FROM OUR REGULAR CORRESPONDENT.

WASHINGTON, April 15, 1876. CHIEF JUSTICE CARTTER ON THE KILBOURN

HABEAS CORPUS CASE. Judge David K. Cartter, of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia, who issued the writ of habeas corpus in the case of Hallett Kilbourn, was asked this vening what action the Court would take next Tuesday in case the Sergeant-at-Arms of the House should be ordered to disregard the writ. The Judge said tint If he knew what he should do it would not be proper for him to tell. To do so would be like giving a decislon before the case was closed. He wanted to give the matter due consideration and hear all the arguments that might be advanced on either side. If the writ mover before arisen in the history of this government. Able and experienced lawyers differed and held con-Rouse of Representatives and of the Court in this peculiar case. He said that the question to be decided was whether the House of Representatives was a dudicial body. The Supreme Court could not interfere rith the rights of an interior court. If the House of Representatives had judicial power and jurisdiction it sould hold a prisoner by right of priority of possession. This was a year of precedents, and many legal ques-sions of great moment would have to be settled during this session of Congress. Judge Cartter said that he was certain of one thing:-If he found that it was his

S. A. Wheelwright was examined to-day by the Committee on Naval Expenditures in reference to the claim of Tilton, Wheelwright & Co. against the Navy Department, in which they recovered about $30,000, In 1874, twelve years from the origin of said claim, Previous witnesses testified that it was generally understood that moneys were paid to the Chief of Bureau offConstruction, Issiah Hauscom, to Paymaster Thornton and Congressm A Harris, of Missouri, to have the claim passed. Wheelwright testified that he has no knowledge of money having been paid, directly or inirectly, to any one except a clerk of the department for purely cierical services, by which it appears that Tilton paid said cierk one-fourth part of what Tilton represented he had paid. This payment was for services actually rendered, and there was no secrecy in the matter. Outside of this he knew of no payment, lirect or indirect, as the claim was recovered, as far as he knows, on its merits, several precedents under a law of Congress fully justifying its payment, which law provides that contractors who furnished one hun dred per cent above face of contracts should be at owed market price for any excess,above that. These ontracts were in 1861, and obliged contractors to fur-ish all of the articles specified which the government night require; but, the war breaking out meanwhile, demands on contractors were excessive and often deten times the face of the contract. Hence the their relief. Tilton, however, claimed that he ld have to expend $7,000, and it seems quite probable that the money he represented that he might have to pay was not disbursed, but retained by said Tilton. At all events Wheelwright has not to this day, occording to his testimony, recovered from Tilton his

ING THE HABEAS CORPUS PRIVILEGE IN THE LOWER HOUSE—THE CASE OF KIL-

In the House of Representatives to-day there was an asion of the habeas corpus case of Hallet Kilbourn. As a constitutional question is involvedinteresting. The members participating were Hoar, of Massachusetts; Morrison, of Illinois; Knott, of Kentucky (chairman of the Judiciary Committee); Hurd, of Dhio; Kasson, of Iowa; Garfield, of Ohio; Frye, of Kelley, of Pennsylvania. There was a strong sentiment in favor of maintaining the unlimited prerogative of the House in dealing with prisoners for contempt, and of repudiating the pretended right of any court to question it. In the last 150 years there any precedent that would support this view. Those who argued for the force of the habeas corpus act were among the ablest members of the House. Mr. Hurd, who led the debate, at half-past five announced that he had just been informed by the Sergeant at-Arms that Judge Cartter had appointed next Tuesday morning for the hearing of the case, and he therefore gave notice e'clock on Monday. The House then adjourned. THE DEFICIENCY APPROPRIATION AND THE MIS-SISSIPPI INVESTIGATION. The Senate Committee on Appropriations have agreed to report favorably on the House Deficiency bill on Monday, recommending that it be considered and passed immediately. With it will be passed the Senate appropriation necessary to cover the expenses of the investigation of the Mississippi election frauds. It was the understanding that the Mississippi appropriation should be passed by the House in return for speedy passage of the Deficiency bill, which includes the amount necessary to pay witness fees incurred by the House investigations.

GENERAL WASHINGTON DESPATCHES.

WASHINGTON, April 15, 1876.

SEDICTMENT OF BABCOCK, HARRINGTON, WHIT-LEY AND OTHERS FOR COMPLICITY IN THE SAFE BURGLARY CONSPIRACY.

The Grand Jury to-day indicted Babo on, Whitley, Renton, Miles, Nettleship and Somerville for complicity in the "safe burglary conspiracy." Warrants were issued for the arrest of cach, excepting General Baboock, who appeared and gave bail in the sam of $10,000, ex-Governor A. R. Shepherd going his bail. General Baboock expected his indictment, and with his surety was waiting in the office of Colonel Cooke, who was one of his counsel in his St. Louis trial. A new indictment against W. H. Ottman was also tound by the Grand Jury. It is understood that all except Babcook and Harrington will be used as witmil except Babcock and Harrington will be used as wit-nesses, and the indictments against those testifying will be noise prossed. There are rumors that liarring-ten cannot be found and will seek to avoid arrest.

The indictment charges Orville E. Babcock, Richard arrington, Hiram C. Whitley, Ichabod C. Nettleship-somas P. Somerville, George E. Miles (alias "Blis," ias "Williams") and Walter Brown (alias "William den') with having on the 17th day of April, 1874, conspired to injure and oppress Columbus Alexander, and that in pursuance of said conspiracy they did pro-cure said Brown and the said Miles to break and enter flow of the Attorney of the United States for said five talesmen were then ordered to be summoned by the Court. Immediately after the order was issued Marshal Sharpe retired to his room with the Deputy Marshal Sharpe retired to his room with the Deputy Marshal and presented a list of names already made up, from which the Deputy Marshal, after examination, suggested that two names should be erased, which was done. Twenty-five names were then counted off, commencing at the head of the list, and the parties were summoned, from whom the other seven jurors were obtained. The only question which can arise on this point is:—Was the list of talesmen furnished to Worshal Sharpe, by an outside party, and, if so, Marshal Sharpe by an outside party, and, if so, by whom? When the verdict was rendered it was ascertained that the jury stood four for conviction and eight for acquittal. Two of the talesmen votes for conviction and five for acquittal. Two of the jurors who voted for acquittal obtained positions under the District government very soon after be matters of investigation. The Grand Jury also presented indictments against Leander K. Lippincott, am H. Grant and Francis X. Erosseau for spiracy to defraud the government. Mr. Lippincott, it will be recollected, was chief clerk of the General Land Office, and was recently dismissed from that

THE SILVER BILL AND THE BUREAU OF EN-GRAVING AND PRINTING.

The Silver bill was received at the Executive Mansion to-day, and will be signed on Monday or Tuesday, The Bureau of Engraving and Printing will recom mence operations to the extent allowed by the appro-priation, and by the latter part of the week will have all the force at work that is to be employed until the end of the present fiscal year.

Mr. Jewell, the Chief of Bureau, says there will necessarily be a large reduction from the former number of employés.

MUSICAL AND DRAMATIC NOTES.

Mr. Mills and Miss Drasdil apppear at Thomas' concert, Steinway Hall, on Monday. The Lyceum Theatre presents a fresh bill for Easter

Miss Minnie Palmer and Mr. N. C. Goodwin have concluded their engagement at the Lyceum, and will appear this week at the Kagle Theatre.

The popularity of "Henry V." at Booth's is increasing. The comedy characters are well acted, especially that of Fluellen by Mr. Frederick Thorne, and the parts of Messrs. Bishop and Parsice.

Mile Anna de Belocca, one of the most charming contraits singers we have had in this country for some years, makes her début at the Academy on Monday as

The scenery and acting of "Ferreol" at the Union Square Theatre would alone make the drama a suc-cess, but the author has made a great hit, no matter rom what source he may have taken his story. The fourth act is a powerful dramatic picture. Miss Kate feering, will have a benefit on the 28th of April.

If the Emperor likes to laugh we presume he will go Theatre nightly, and his own performance, with that of Miss Rose Wood, is thoroughly enjoyable. Miss Rose Lisle has too serious a character to display her comedy ability, but gives a pathetic interest to the play. This is the tenth week of "Brass" and it is likely to reach Dom Pedro and suite have accepted an invitation to be present at the performance of "Pique" on Monday night. All the proscenium boxes of the theatre have been set apart for the accommodation of the party. The whole theatre will be decorated with flowers and bunting. The charge that Mr. Wheeler did not observe the dramatic "unities" in the construction of "Twins" not well founded. The play, since the first night, has been much improved by the condensation of the first two acts. Mr. Wheeler is too good a critic not to be that when he sat in front and saw the progress of his play he perceived its faults and had the courage to replay he perceived its faults and had the courage to re-move them. It is not every author who has the op-portunity and the ability to be his own censor. The third act of "Twins" is the best of the four, and it is a fact worth noting that third acts are generally the strongest. Mr. Wallack, in the character of Mark Delafield, is the life and inspiration of the drama. Mr. Floyd might make the part of the rascal Wylde more effective, but the value of the whole performance has decidedly increased since the first night.

BROOKLYN CROOKED WHISKEY.

Yesterday afternoon United States Deputy Marshal Fust and Revenue Deputy Collector Thomas J. Young, of Brookiyn, with a police sergeant and three officers of New Lots, seized an illicit still situated at Cypress of New Lots, seized an illicit still situated at Cypress Hill avenue, Esat New York. It is supposed to have been at work for several months, and was situated in a frame building three stories high. They found four half barrels of brewer's yeast and a quantity of whiskey. A new copper still of 200 gallons capacity was in full work. A worm and all the other apparatus and 400 gallons of mash found in the collar were destroyed. No arrests were made.

ELECTRIC LIGHTS AT SEA.

M. Louis de Bebian, the agent of the General Transatlantic Steamship Company, last evening exhibited on the steamship L'Amérique the new electric light on the steamship L'Amérique the new electric light for the purpose of illumination at sea. Over the captain's deck cabin a bright light of a white color, about tive inches in orcomference, was exhibited, and this was transferred with the celerity of lightning to a tower on the forward deck, where reflected through glass the light shed its radiance over the North River with wonderful power and effect. An officer exhibited the simple apparatus in the deck room by which the light was installaneously shut off or produced, and then showed the visitors to the engine room, where the small machine—making about 1,000 revolutions per minute—with wires attached, was in operation. These lights, it is believed, will be placed on all the French steamers.
